

Performing the City symposium August 7, 2020

Short tasks

<https://padlet.com/sannemestrom/yfg3t1k5mloawdpi>

You may select one of the four tasks below:

1. If you are able, go for a short walk—no more than 15 minutes—in your neighbourhood, using the attached document as a prompt.

Upon your return, create a sketch and/or map of your walk. What is salient? What could your map show that is not simply cartographic? How might a map address time? How might a map show what you saw, felt, imagined, remembered? How might a map deal with memory? How might a map deal with intensity of experience?

Take a photograph of your map
Upload the photograph to the padlet

2. If you are unable to leave your home, create a 'heatmap' of your domestic environment. What places/spaces in your home are you most frequently involved in? When? What places/spaces do you avoid?

Take a photograph of your heatmap.
Upload the photograph to the padlet.

3. Prepare a pencil/pen and piece of paper in a place you will be able to find it. Blindfold yourself.

Spend 10 minutes moving around your home.
Without removing your blindfold, return to the paper.
Still blindfolded, draw, sketch, map, or write about your experiences.
Take off the blindfold.

Take a photograph of your heatmap.
Upload the photograph to the padlet.

4. Go for a short walk. Collect five objects and bring them home. Describe/identify five aspects of that object